We exist to change lives and create productive futures for adolescents and families struggling with behavior issues and other life challenges.

"I saw my son transform from a loving, obedient child to an unruly, obnoxious, and sullen teenager. I tried counseling, Tough Love®, confrontation and he just became more angry and antagonistic. He was picked up for shoplifting, stole money out of my purse, and skipped school. I was at my wit's end. What had I done wrong? How had I failed him?"

Pathway Family Centers have many unique characteristics that contributes to our success. They are:

- A broad range of services that allow us to tailor the program to meet the needs of each youth and their family.
- Self-help and peer-to-peer models form a core strategy for success. These models create a forum for ongoing support..
- As the experts on their child, parents are actively involved in all aspects of treatment.
- Alternative housing options allow youth and families to practice skills in a safe and non-threatening environment.
- Pathway involves the entire family, including siblings who benefit from early intervention and prevention services.
- Graduate parents and youth contribute on all levels of the organization, including the Board of Directors, as mentors, public speakers, peer counselors, on fundraising and advisory committees, ensuring quality programming.

Our Success Rate

A recent study by the University of Detroit Mercy found that 90% of the families served report an improved quality of life. Further, 88% of the youth report improved relationships with their parents and 98% do not return to the same behavior problems. Information for this study was collected from 51% of clients and 61% of parents who had participated in Pathway's Day Treatment program. See also comparisons to other alternatives for teens with serious behavior problems ~
