

EMOTIONAL DURESS

Orlando Sentinel, The (FL) (Published as THE ORLANDO SENTINEL) - October 25, 1985

- Edition: 3 STAR
- Section: EDITORIAL PAGE
- Page: A18

MY THANKS to the Sentinel for the series on Seminole-Brevard Circuit Court Judge Dominick Salfi. It's not every day we have an opportunity to see how an elected official can become drunk with power.

Being a judge is no excuse to play God. Admittedly, Salfi has helped a few people but, unfortunately, the accounts of emotional and financial duress by far outnumber the good he has done for these people.

A judge is supposed to be fair and unbiased. How can a man be fair and unbiased when he uses his own experiences with his daughter Dawn's drug-abuse problem and Straight Inc., a drug treatment program, as a guideline for everyone else?

Sydney Taylor

ORLANDO

- Memo: Letters to the editor

- Index terms: OPINION
- Record: 0340090270
- Copyright: Copyright 1985 Sentinel Communications Co.